About Helen M. Mitchell

Helen M. Mitchell is a speaker, author, consultant to business leaders and pastors, and a voice for women in the marketplace. She is employing her executive, pastoral and teaching experience to transform organizations, develop high potential business and marketplace leaders, and guide Pastors and church leaders in their Faith@Work ministry. Helen is also the Director of the Talbot Center for Faith, Work and Economics at Biola University and adjunct faculty in Biola's Crowell School of Business.

As an early adopter of faith, work, and vocation in the local church, Helen is the architect and visionary of the Saddleback@Work ministry, the workplace ministry at Saddleback Church. She served as a licensed minister on the pastoral staff. She started her business career with AT&T becoming a Vice President at the age of 30 and running a half billion-dollar branch by the age of 35.

Helen holds a Masters in Organizational Leadership from Biola University and a Masters in Biblical and Theological Studies from the Talbot School of Theology, Biola University.

Helen is a catalyst for positive change and momentum. When she spoke at our company, the employees were met with wisdom, strategy and encouragement that changed the way they thought about work and their purpose in the world.

— Business Leader in the Healthcare Solutions Industry

Helen is a seasoned professional and an authentic woman of faith. She connects women to the truth of God's Word and their purpose in leadership and the workplace.

She has a true heart and love for women to use the gifts God has given them, wherever they are placed. Her transparency provides an open door for the audience to join her in God's work in her life, as well as seeing His grace and how He is faithfully at work in each of their own lives. She is genuine, authentic, and passionate about equipping women to excel in their calling.

— Associate Business Professor and Mentor to Women

Helen is an amazing blend of executive, pastor and teacher. Helen holds an audience with a commanding presence, speaking with clarity and authority while using inspiration, humor and powerful emotion to underscore key points. She is a powerful speaker.

She simply has the rare qualities of empathy, strength and wisdom. It is uncommon to find such a balance of three diverse disciplines of executive, pastor and teacher in one person.

— Pastor, Small Groups and Spiritual Health
