

Helen M. Mitchell

Integrating Executive and Pastoral Experience

Helen M. Mitchell is a leadership & strategy coach, speaker, author, a voice for women in the marketplace, and a Faith@Work Strategist.

She is also the Director of the Talbot Center for Faith, Work & Economics at the Talbot School of Theology at Biola University and faculty in the Crowell School of Business at Biola University. She teaches Leadership, Change and Innovation in the MBA program and Organizational Ethics in the business undergraduate program.

Helen has been sought out as an expert to incorporate and apply faith, work and economics in both business and in the local church. Helen is integrating her executive, pastoral and teaching experience to transform organizations, develop high potential leaders, guide pastors and church leaders in their Faith@Work ministry and disciple people in their worklife.

She has spoken at conferences, on radio programs, guest lectured at other universities, business and pastoral groups, and authored faith and work articles and small group curriculum.

Helen exponentially accelerates application, growth and transformation.

She is the founder and CEO of Strategic Management Resources, a strategy and management consulting firm, based in Orange County, CA. She assists clients to envision the future for their organization, develop effective planning strategies, build high levels of organizational capability and transformational leaders who can effectively collaborate and lead the implementation plans.

Helen started her business career with AT&T becoming an Area Vice President with Lucent Technologies at the age of 30 and holding various leadership roles. As an early adopter of faith, work, and economics in the local church, as a licensed minister on the pastoral staff, she was the architect and visionary of the Saddleback@Work ministry at Saddleback Church.

Helen holds a Masters in Organizational Leadership from Biola University and a Masters in Biblical and Theological Studies from the Talbot School of Theology, at Biola University. She also attended the Senior Executive Program at Columbia University.
